HONOR June 4, 2016, as Bridging the Military-Civilian Divide Day

WHEREAS, Our society faces ever-increasing challenges, yet our nation seems more divided than ever; and

WHEREAS, The complex nature of the problems facing our nation require cross-sector collaboration; and

WHEREAS, Regardless of political views, we are all Americans; and

WHEREAS, Berkeley is built on a foundation of mutual understanding; and

WHEREAS, We are at our best when we both allow political disagreement and find common values; and

WHEREAS, Civilians and military personnel alike believe in service to our country; and

WHEREAS, Bridging the divide between people living in different parts of the country, from different religions, and with differing politics is among our country’s top priorities.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the City of Berkeley hereby declares the day of June 4, 2016, Bridging the Military-Civilian Divide Day

We invite everyone to reflect on finding common ground and understanding in the nation, in California, and in the City of Berkeley.
